TheStreet.com: Conscious Capitalism: Tulane MBAs In Argentina

April 28, 2011

From TheStreet.com, April 27, 2011:

> Tulane University has built a national reputation for public service in recent years. Now, that reputation is going global. Adding to the university's list of international service projects, a group of MBA students in the A. B. Freeman School of Business pitched in with recent volunteer work in Argentina.

To read the entire article, visit TheStreet.com:

http://www.thestreet.com/story/11096969/conscious-capitalism-tulane-mbas-in-argentina.html