Houston Energy Insider: Insiders of the Month

October 9, 2015

Iris Mack, adjunct lecturer in management science and faculty member of the Tulane Energy Institute, was selected as an "Insider of the Month" by Houston Energy Insider, a website dedicated to the national and global energy markets. Based on nominations by readers of the site, the honor highlights notable energy professionals. Mack, who previously taught at MIT and worked at NASA, Boeing and AT&T Bell Laboratories, teaches Energy Fundamentals & Trading at the Freeman School.