The Chronicle of Higher Education: The Coronavirus Crisis Calls for Compassion, Say Faculty Members Sharing Advice

March 28, 2020

Tim West, professor of practice in accounting, was featured in a Chronicle of Higher Education video showing university professors discussing the best advice they've received on how to navigate self-isolation and delivering their courses online.

> Be willing to make yourself uncomfortable. Remember that it doesn't matter what I look like on Zoom or how many mistakes I make. As long as the students trust me to have their back, they'll forgive me for almost anything.

To see the video in its entirety, visit www.chronicle.com:

https://www.chronicle.com/article/Do-No-Harm-The/248363?cid=wcontentgrid_hp_1b