WVUE Fox 8: Energy Experts and Environmentalists React to Biden Keystone Decision

January 22, 2021

Eric Smith, professor of practice and associate director of the Tulane Energy Institute , was interviewed by WVUE Fox 8 for a story about the impact of President Biden's decision to shut down the Keystone pipeline on Louisiana.

> Though environmentalists support President Biden's decision to block the pipeline, industry experts say keystone was actually the more environmentally safe way to go.

> “The old rule is if you can move it by pipeline you do so because it’s the least expensive and risky,” said Eric Smith, with the Tulane Energy Institute.

To read the story in its entirety, visit fox8live.com:

https://www.fox8live.com/2021/01/21/energy-experts-environmentalists-react-biden-keystone-decision/