WGNO-TV: What would gas ban on Russia mean for drivers buying gas locally?

March 8, 2022

Pierre Conner, professor of practice and executive director of the Tulane Energy Institute, was interviewed by WGNO-TV for a story about the impact of President Biden's ban on Russian oil imports on local gas prices.

> "Oil is a worldwide market and it is going to find other places. I think everyone needs to know about crude oil, not every crude oil is the same, there's literally hundreds of different types of crude oil," he said.

To read the story in its entirety, visit wgno.com:

https://wgno.com/news/local/what-would-gas-ban-on-russia-mean-for-drivers-buying-gas-locally/