Newsweek: China’s RedNote Poses National Security Risks Too, Experts Warn

January 17, 2025

Ashley Keller Nelson, senior professor of practice in management communication, was interviewed for a Newsweek story about RedNote, an alternative to TikTok that many users are turning to in anticipation of an expected U.S. ban of the popular social media app.

> If you apply the same logic to RedNote that we used to decide if TikTok was a threat, then yes, RedNote could be a potential security risk. If the Chinese government can take personal data from your phone for TikTok, it can take your data for RedNote.
