Fox News: High egg prices putting a pinch on Louisiana bakeries ahead of Mardi Gras

February 21, 2025

Osman Kazan, professor of practice and director of the Master of Business Analytics program, was interviewed by Fox News for a story about the effect of high egg prices on king cake makers this Mardi Gras season.

> Osman Kazan, the director of the Business Analytics Program at Tulane University, said people may have to face a new reality when shopping for eggs.

> "We won’t be going back to very cheap dozens of eggs, which we saw several years ago," he said. "So this is going to stay here for awhile, and the high will become the new normal."

To read the story in its entirety, visit foxnews.com:

https://www.foxnews.com/food-drink/high-egg-prices-putting-pinch-louisiana-bakeries-ahead-mardi-gras