Meet the MBA Class of ’27: Grant Halgren

November 17, 2025

Grant Halgren

Grant Halgren is an MBA candidate specializing in Finance and Energy with a broad business foundation from Indiana University’s Kelley School, where he earned degrees in Marketing, Management, and International Business. He brings hands-on experience from Hormel Foods across supply chain and foodservice sales, managing cross-functional projects, improving demand forecasts, and cultivating relationships with national accounts. Grant thrives at linking operational drivers to financial outcomes, translating data and market insight into clear recommendations for growth and margin improvement. He is targeting roles in energy finance where his analytical discipline and client-facing experience can create measurable value. Beyond work, he enjoys cooking, watching sports, and traveling, and brings the same curiosity and team-first approach to every professional setting.
