Meet the MBA Class of '27: Ben Rosamond

December 1, 2025

Ben Rosamond

Ben thrives when high stakes meet high energy. Before Tulane, he was a Wildland Firefighter on crews battling wildfires across the western United States, an experience that sharpened his crisis management and endurance. He’s also guided dog sled tours in Montana, caring for teams of 16 Alaskan Huskies while delivering unforgettable guest experiences. Now pivoting to business, Ben brings resilience, teamwork, and leadership forged in extreme conditions. With an interest in the finance world and Investment banking, Ben pairs sharp analytical skills with a spirit for adventure.
